

Due Diligence

Haley Guiliano evaluates intellectual property-related assets and risks. In transactions involving large investments or acquisitions, we analyze patents and other intellectual property assets to identify potential risks.

When our clients are preparing to enter into transactions involving intellectual property, we guide them through the potential resultant risks and assist in mitigating those risks. In transactions involving complex technologies, we set ourselves apart by providing a team of technically and scientifically proficient attorneys and other professionals.