

Patent Preparation and Prosecution

HG specializes in preparing and prosecuting patent applications across all technologies and sciences. Our practice extends globally allowing us to serve our client's patent needs in the United States, Europe, as well as in any other jurisdiction in the world.

We are experts at developing patent portfolio growth strategies and work closely with our clients to build patent portfolios having maximum value. Our work includes developing the necessary infrastructure to monitor and understand our clients' portfolios, including those having assets in the thousands and tens of thousands across the globe.

Our team of talented attorneys and other patent professionals draft and prosecute patent applications with a forward-thinking perspective. We anticipate patents to be scrutinized as part of future enforcement actions, licensing negotiations, and other transactions. In view of this approach, we draft and prosecute patent applications leveraging our extensive experience and taking into account trends in the law to ensure that resultant patents withstand scrutiny.
