

Technical Advisors & Patent Agents

Nearly 30 years ago, the partners at Haley Guiliano founded one of the first Technical Advisor programs at an intellectual property law firm. The innovative program allowed highly-skilled recent graduates in technical fields to apply their engineering, chemistry, and life-sciences background training to the legal issues surrounding a wide variety of emerging and pioneering technologies, while simultaneously learning practical legal skills and earning their law degree.

Today, Haley Guiliano's comprehensive Technical Advisor program continues to develop outstanding professionals. Our Technical Advisors and Patent Agents work side-by-side with our attorneys on a wide array of projects. We provide intentional mentoring with a structured training program, all designed to quickly hone the skills of IP professionals. From day one, our Technical Advisors and Patent Agents can expect to accumulate the knowledge and real-world experience that will help them develop into successful attorneys and contribute to Haley Guiliano's continued leadership in Intellectual Property.
