

Telecommunication

Fast-paced and ever-changing, the telecommunications field presents unique challenges with regard to intellectual property. Whether dealing with standard-essential patents or pioneering the next communication breakthrough, Haley Guiliano has the legal experience and technical know-how to tackle any IP-related need in the telecommunication space.